

Second Mission Call

Conversation Starters

- What are some ways that God showed you He was calling you the first time?
- What is your favorite memory from your time as a missionary? What is your most unpleasant memory?
- If you could go back and change anything from our first call, what would you change?
- What did we do really well on our first call?
- Are there things we would want to do differently if we take another call? In our family? In the way we do ministry?
- What is one way God could show us He is calling us again?
- Do you feel ready to be a missionary again? What do you think it would take to feel ready?
- Does anyone in our family need anything before we could be ready to accept another call?
- Are we equipped for cross-cultural service? Is there anything our family needs to be equipped?
- Has our calling shifted in some way?
- What categories of service excite you? (Personal evangelism? Preaching? Medical or other service-related projects? Supporting missions financially?) Are there any ways we could adjust the way we do missions to be more fulfilling for you?
- What was most fulfilling about our first call? What was least fulfilling?
- What was challenging about our last call? Did we address those challenges as best we could? Is there any way we could address those challenges better this next time around?
- If you are married: What are some things you appreciated about your spouse, whether things about their personality or ways they handled specific situations?
- Are you at all interested in being a missionary again? Be honest. Explain why or why not. God can always change your heart, but it's important to be honest!
- Is there anything that scares you about going again? Anything that sounds fun?
- Are there any "signs" that God has given that He's leading us to go again?
